

Twelve Steps to Hassle-Free Transfer of Your Records to the Archives and Records Office (ARO)

1. Request boxes from the Archives and Records Office (ARO). ARO boxes are only to be used for sending records to ARO; they are not to be used as moving and storage boxes. The first 10 boxes are free of charge; if you need more than 10 boxes, the charge is $1.75 a box.
2. Do not write anywhere on the boxes EXCEPT to number them in pencil in the upper right hand corner where it reads, "Agency Box #", e.g. 1 of 3, 2 of 3, 3 of 3.
3. Make sure you are putting your files in facing the FRONT of the box.
4. Do not include binders or hanging file folders. Remove the documents and place them in regular file folders, or accordion folders, and label them with whatever was written on the original binder or folder.
5. Fill each box leaving about an inch of space in the back. The last box does not have to be full if there are not enough folders to fill it. Put packing material in the last box if it is not full so the folders stay upright.
6. Download and fill out the transmittal form at: http://www-library.lbl.gov/public/tmAro/faq/Rec_Trans_Form.html See Pages 2-3 for an example of a completed transmittal form.
7. Folders need to be in alphabetical order if you are archiving personnel files, medical charts, benefits files, or dosimetry records. If you are archiving files that use a numerical system (like purchase orders) they need to be in numerical order.
8. Enter the title of each folder into the transmittal form exactly as it reads on the folder.
9. List each folder in the box; the first folder in the box is folder one on the transmittal, and so on.
10. Proofread your work, e.g. if an employee name is misspelled, the Federal Records Center may not be able to locate the person's file. If there are too many mistakes on your transmittal, the records will be returned to you to be corrected and resubmitted.
11. Place a copy of the transmittal in box one.
12. Email your completed transmittal to aro@lbl.gov. ARO will review the transmittal. If ARO approves your records for transfer, you will receive an email with instructions on how to fill out the online Transportation Move Request form available after you logon at <https://workrequest.lbl.gov/>
